Nucleus Software ties up with Turkey firm

IT firm Nucleus Software Exports on Tuesday said it has entered into a partnership with Turkey-based Gantek to capitalise their respective capabilities and experiences in that country. "Given its established presence in the region, Gantek will help Nucleus enhance product sales and implementation in addition to providing first level support to the clients," IT firm said in a filing to the BSE. However, the company did not disclose the financial details of the partnership.
